The Chances at Faro.

Having read the recent tragic death of a St. Louis gambler in last Sunday's Sun, I have thought it advisable to give the public an idea of the gambler's chances. It is safe to venture the assertion that if a person could be thoroughly convinced there was no chance whatever of his winning a penny but that he would, to an absolute certainty, lose every dollar that he might hazard at the game of faro, he would forever abandon a habit so demoralizing in its results. There is no reason whatever why a mind capable of reasoning should not arrive at the conclusion that, although one may enjoy temporary luck at intervals, his ultimate defeat is as sure as that his moral nature suffers depletion with the turn of every card.

Probably the best proof of this advantage on the part of the bank was offered by an experiment made by eleven well known gamblers in this city. Determined to test the chances of the game, they established a bank with a capital of $10,000, placing it in charge of one of their number, while the remaining ten played against it for the term of one year, each with a stake of $5,000. At the end of the time specified it was found that not one of the ten players had a dollar of his original stake, but that the bank had absorbed their entire capital.

Old gamblers declare that any man will beat himself at guessing in the long run, and upon the truth of that axiom the gamblers who run these dens of theft thrive at the expense of the infatuated men who refuse to accept it until ruin stares them in the face. Those who have given the subject much attention declare that not more than four gamblers in this country ever amassed a competence by gaming, unless they owned and conducted games themselves.

It is in small communities that gambling holds occasion their greatest amount of misery, for they depend for custom not upon an army of professional sports, but their supporters are furnished from the artisan population and younger mercantile community—the very ones who can least afford to lose the tribute money that the tiger daily extorts from his votaries. It would be ridiculous were it not mournful, this blind mania for play and belief in treacherous chances. Your novice, and your veteran as well, will play the game on Monday and lose twenty-five dollars, repeat the dose on Tuesday to the tune of thirty dollars, Wednesday ditto of twenty dollars, and if he makes a winning of fifty dollars on Thursday he will go home perfectly satisfied, confident of his ability to beat faro, never pausing to reflect that a summary of his four days' work shows him seventy-five dollars out of pocket to only fifty dollars received.—Cor. N. Y. Sun.

Wondering that the Turks live. It is certainly a mystery that the inhabitants of the Ottoman Empire did not all perish years ago from pulmonary diseases. Their feet are first swathed in a coarse rag, which is then wound around the lower part of the leg, and bound tightly with twine; on the rag is tied a piece of sole leather, hammered into a rudely shaped sandal, with sides rising one inch up the side of the foot. It is evident that their feet are wet the moment they step into mud or water over an inch in depth. This they are constantly doing in bad weather; consequently, their feet are soaking wet for a week at a stretch, and yet they live and multiply. They violate every known law of hygiene in the ventilation, and often the cleanliness of their dwellings, and yet their children are generally sturdy looking, and the adults show fair, average physique. They sleep in rows on a mat laid upon the floor of their underground huts. Sometimes the floor is covered with them, and yet they do not appear to suffer for want of oxygen.—London Times.

The Maritime Conference has closed its session, without electing a Prophet, leaving the Church management in the hands of the twelve Apostles.

THE MAN WHO SWAM THE DARDANELLES.—The Dardanelles, toward which so much attention is now directed, fairly teems with historic and poetic memories. Its navigation was first attempted by the Argonauts, under Jason, in their search for the Golden Fleece. At Abydos Xerxes built his famous Bridge of Boats for the invasion of Greece, and here it was that the loves of Hero and Leander became world-renowned. Leander, who lived at Abydos, on the Asiatic shore, was in love with Hero, the beautiful priestess of Venus, at Sestos, and regularly swam the strait to meet his mistress. One dark and stormy night he failed to appear, and when the tide was low he was found floating dead in the sea. The next morning the waves had washed the dead body of her lover upon the sands. Overcome by her loss, she plunged into the sea, and the spot became ever after sacred to their memory. On the 3d of March, 1810, Lord Byron swam the Dardanelles at the same point in seventy minutes. He was accompanied by Lieutenant Akenhead, whose name has been handed down to posterity in the line: "Which Leander, Mr. Akenhead, and I did." The swim from Abydos to Sestos is still repeated yearly by Byron-inspired tourists, and will probably continue to be as long as the glamour of poetry and tradition hangs round the spot.

The following item is going the rounds: "A bar of iron worth $3 made into horse shoes is worth $10; made into needles is worth $35; made into pen knife blades is worth $3,284; made into balance springs of watches is worth $250,000. Such is the power of industrious labor over raw material.

President Hayes does not appear disturbed by Senator Sargent's resolution, offered Wednesday in the Republican Congressional caucus. Sargent's resolution is:

Resolved, That the President be requested to rescind his order forbidding participation by officials in the executive branch of the Civil Service in meetings, caucuses, conventions and committees of a political character.

And just here we may note the action taken on this resolution even by the more radical Republicans, who now oppose the conservative policy of the President. Removed as we are from the political arena, we may take the political coruscations of Blaine, Conkling, Sargent, Howe, Spencer, Chandler and Gorham, to represent the real controlling spirit of Republicanism in the more populous and central States of the Union. How were the resolutions, introduced and eloquently supported by Senator Sargent, received by the caucus? No one seconded his motion, but Senator Edmunds—he of the statesman's brain—quietly disposed of them by referring the whole matter to a committee, with power to confer with the President on the subjects. A number of members spoke against the President's order, but Edmunds' coup de grace paved the way for a harmonious but scarcely effective session of the caucus. The Committee of Eleven will confer with the Chief Executive, but only in an informal way and of political questions in general. Hayes never declines to listen attentively to the suggestions of Congressmen or other influential persons, but when he makes up his mind that he is right he resolutely maintains his position. The telegram says that Republicans in Congress, for the greater part, will endeavor to avoid a direct issue with the President, however much they may disagree with him in some of his political measures. Thus do we of this coast again perceive the stability of the President, and the force and enduring efficacy of his policies. The Republicans, whose names we have mentioned in this article, and others of equal or less note, have severely criticized Hayes and his cabinet. But they have, more or less, made fools of themselves and established the worth and virtue of the present Administration. The President is aware of the notoriously corrupting influences of the active participation in "state" caucuses and conventions; of the neglect of official duty in "stumping" for the party's candidates, etc; and he well knows that this gigantic abuse of what, in a measure, is the inalienable right of those in government office, cannot be checked, except by radical action, by a severe restrictive order. It is not presumed that this order will remain in effect as a constitutional law, but as a law of the ancient western nations of Asia, for all time and unalterable. But the periodic cataclysm of one hundred thousand wire-pullers has grown to be a fearful natural calamity, and the people rejoice at the Presidential interdiction.

We find nothing of special interest in the Eastern war news. War preparations are being made by Turkey and Russia. Russia has made some demands which may renew hostilities, but there does not seem a stronger probability of actual conflict than for two weeks past. The status of the Eastern situation is that of undecided combatants during an armistice. Some aggression on either side may lead to a renewal of the war to-morrow, but diplomacy in the interest of peace, may effect a return of the same almost immediately. It would scarcely seem probable that, after all that has been said and done, the storms of impending conflicts would quietly subside, and a permanent reign of peace begin. The barriers to peace are not broken, and as we take it the Russo-Turkish war is not at an end. If war is to be, let it come in respectable dimensions. It is time that the enlightened nations relinquish their support of dissolute paganism, and the underlying laws of progressive international life obtain.

SANTA BARBARA.

"The Italy of America"—its Resources, Scenery, etc.—What a Resident of Reno Says while on a Tour Through Southern California.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Ed. Reno Gazette: Having just returned to a pleasant trip through Southern California, and trusting that a few brief notes "by the wayside" may not be without interest to your many readers, I pen to-night, beneath the shadow of those snow-clad peaks which tower above us like huge white sentinels guarding our valley, of a balmy breeze and genial clime far away to the south. I would forget for awhile our gentle Washoe zephyrs, whose dirge-like music reminds me of tin cans and cobble-stones hurled about in such fury that even the dogs hide themselves to their kennels in fear and trembling. All this I would fain forget as I write of the floral gardens of our coast, the

ITALY OF AMERICA, Geographically known as Santa Barbara. The trip from here to the bay is one with which you are familiar. I left San Francisco March 21st, on the steamer Orizaba, bound for the southern coast of California. This is one of the finest steamers on this line, well officered and every provision made for the comfort of the passengers. Our trip down the coast was a pleasant one, though many of the passengers acted in a very unbecoming way, were not content to await the slow method of digestion. They were found of the hurricane deck railing, charitable to the hungry ones of the ocean deep. It is the old story of seasickness in all its variety and unpermissible amusement. After a run of two days and one night we landed upon the wharf at

SANTA BARBARA. It is not my intention in this brief correspondence to enter into detail, either as regards the history or statistics of this place, and will speak of Santa Barbara and its pleasant surroundings in a superficial way, or as they appear to a traveler. The town contains a population of about 5,000. The streets are wide and well shaded with trees, mostly of the pepper and Australian gum species, but many other tropical trees are also found there. The principal business street (State street) extends from the wharf in a northeasterly course a distance of nearly one mile. On this street horse cars run as far as the Arlington hotel, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile from the wharf. There are many frame, stone and brick blocks upon this street. The remaining streets are principally built up of residences, the buildings being set back some distance from the street, thus giving space in front for fine lawns, beautified by nearly every species of tropical trees, fruits and flowers. The general features of Santa Barbara resemble Oakland, with which city it will compare favorably.

THE SCENERY. Around Santa Barbara is, if not grand, at least varied and beautiful. To the north and east stretches a long line of broken hills, covered with verdure, with a few straggling pines in the distance. To the south and west stretches the broad Pacific. Between the town and ocean lies the mesa, an elevated table land. A well graded road connects the town with this plateau. On the mesa one has a fine view of the town and ocean. To the north and east, on an elevated table-land, is the old Spanish Mission of Santa Barbara. Its massive walls and heavily tiled roof, its aqueducts, mounds vaults and other out-buildings, and are in part surrounded by massive walls, forms a picture even imposing and not soon to be forgotten. As I gazed upon this massive structure, almost prehistoric in its origin, the query arose, how many dark secrets lie hidden in those mysterious vaults. Generations have come and passed away; the storms of more than a century have beat against its portals, leaving scarcely a trace of what is now quite forgotten in the dim, forgotten past.

SANTA BARBARA VALLEY. The valley is an extensive one, and thickly dotted with fine farms, but mostly small and devoted to the culture of fruit, the principal productions being oranges, lemons, limes, olives, apricots, almonds, figs and English walnuts, with an extensive variety of smaller fruits and berries. Wheat, oats, barley and corn, are grown to a limited extent, although the soil and climate are well adapted to the growth of cereals. Among the principal ranches up the valley are the celebrated properties of Col. Hollister and Mr. Cooper. These farms are some twelve miles distant from Santa Barbara, and are second to none on the coast. Here one finds pleasant groves of orange and lemon trees, long rows of almond trees, with their snowy fragrant blossoms, protected from the sea breeze by a long avenue of Australian gum trees. There is but one thing here in keeping with these beautiful homes—

THE HOSPITALITY OF THE FAVORED OWNERS. But why describe these homes alone? There are many others in this lovely valley where the climate is salubrious and the soil rich—why not, with a semi-tropical heat and with fog and rain, have the cozy farm house surrounded with orchards and groves? And there is the grand old Pacific tossing its spray high upon the sandy beach, while out on its bosom speed the vessels of commerce, and beneath its waves are the innumerable denizens of the deep. These and many other attractive features unite in adorning the home of one of our NEVADA'S OLD CITIZENS, (John Hunter); our old-time friend who used to attend the toll house (Col. Reed) is playing the part of the adopted son, and still remains with Mr. Hunter. Both join in sending best wishes to the "old boys" of Washoe. I also met in Santa Barbara, Jos. Garrison, formerly of Reno. Joe is now Assessor of Santa Barbara county. Also met "Old Stub and Twist" (Mr. Collins), once a prominent blacksmith of Virginia City. Both have fine homes and are doing well.

HOTELS. The principal hotels of Santa Barbara are the Arlington and Morris House—both first-class houses.

THE CLIMATE. Is, at this season, similar to June in the Central States, and such that vegetables are successfully grown every month in the year. Business is dull, much more so than in Nevada, yet without any seeming cause why it should be so. Owing to the imperfect titles of these old Spanish grants, the country has only been open for settlement for the last five or six years. Hundreds of families who have been attracted by the rich soil and genial climate, have expended their all in the purchase and improvement of small houses, depending upon the culture of fruit and nuts for a livelihood. This requires time, and thus it is that hundreds are without means—waiting for the golden apple and orange to drop from trees which are yet half grown. Time is a great modifier of events, and ere long the cloud of depression which overhangs this valley will pass away. A description of Los Angeles, Ventura, and other places in Southern California, would be very nearly a repetition of what I have already written. The anti-subsidy citizens of Santa Barbara have much to regret in allowing the golden opportunity pass without securing railroad communication with the outside world.

PARDONING POWER APPLIED.—One Thomason committed petit larceny in Siakiyou county, Cal., by stealing a pig. The judge before whom he was tried sentenced the stealer of youthful swine to ten years in the State's Prison. The law permitting him to do so is a relief of Democratic legislation in the Golden State, and is this: "Any one who steals a four-footed animal is guilty of grand larceny, and may be sentenced to the State Prison for ten years." Thomason will have to be pardoned out by the Governor. His case is one where in the pardoning power applies with singular force.

A TERRIBLE STORY OF CRIME.—A Fonda, N. Y., dispatch of April 11th says: Samuel Steenburgh, awaiting execution on the 19th instant, for the murder of Jacob Parker, at Amsterdam, November 17, made a full confession last night. He says he committed eleven different murders—the first when only 14 years old. He also confessed to numerous burglaries, robberies and incendiary fires in and around Amsterdam. The story is horrible in the extreme, and nearly all corroborated. He says he murdered Parker.

A San Francisco dispatch says: Captain Pierce and four of the crew of the coast steamer Newport, were drowned yesterday. It appears that the unfortunate men attempted to cross Newport bar in a small boat, when a breaker struck it and threw them all into the water. All of the men were drowned before any assistance could be rendered them. The dispatch conveying the sad intelligence states that the bodies have been recovered. The names of the drowned men have not been learned by the owners of the vessel.

SCAVENGERS.—Marlette lake is to be stocked with suckers or White fish from Washoe lake. The object of introducing these suckers into lake Marlette is that they may act as scavengers to its waters. Superintendent Overton says that they will destroy the larvae of many insects that add to the impurities of the water. Marlette lake is the source of the water supply for Virginia City.

The Marin Journal says: A great army of carpenters and builders are all busy as bees at San Rafael. The lumber yards have hard work to supply their orders. It is estimated that $300,000 worth new of houses have gone up in this town within the last fourteen months.

CORRECTION.—Messrs. Crosbie & Maeder, of Piper's Opera House troupe, if successful in their present Reno engagement, will present to the citizens of Reno, the comedy of "Pink Dominoes." They have engaged Smith's Academy of Music for the 29th inst., at which time John Owens, an actor of considerable note, will appear with the above troupe and entertain our people. Mr. Pope will not, as the Journal states, take part in the "Pink Dominoes" or the Owens' engagement. This correction is made at the instance of Mr. Pope's advance agent.

DOWN WITH THE DUST.—The sprinkling cart made its appearance yesterday morning for the first time this season, and there was some talk of getting out a brass band to serenade the driver. —Virginia Chronicle.

LYSIE J.—rig your team and make war upon the dusty streets of our burg, but if the brass band turns out stand it like a man.

ANNIVERSARY BALL.—A grand ball will be given on the 26th of April, 1878, by Reno Lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F., in honor of the fifty-fourth anniversary of Odd Fellowship at Smith's Academy of Music. A full programme will be published in due time.

Election To-Morrow.

To-morrow our citizens will be called on to vote for a special tax of $20,000 for the purpose of erecting and providing additional school facilities for the school children of district No. 10, or, as it is generally understood, a building which, with the ground and school apparatus to be purchased, shall cost that amount. We find that this school question is very much misunderstood, or else we are not apprised of the intention of the Trustees. We confess that we may not have a clear idea of what the Trustees propose. We have suggested some objections which have been advanced by a respectable number of citizens, and solicited the Trustees to make a public, clear statement of their plans than has yet been given. We believe that their motives have been misinterpreted by many, but only in a few instances by design.

A vote of yes means that you by that vote tax yourself and authorize the Trustees to expend the sum of twenty thousand dollars in gold coin, principal together with interest thereon payable in gold coin not to exceed 12 per cent. per annum, shall be raised to furnish an additional school building for said district by a tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent. per annum on the taxable property in said school district till the whole of said principal in sum of twenty thousand dollars and interest thereon (which will be represented by bonds as provided by law) shall be paid.

The election poll will be kept open from 8 A. M. until 6 P. M. at the Reno school house.

Jottings.

—The V. & T. boys at this end of the line were paid off yesterday.

—Get your drinks to-night as to-morrow the saloons will be closed. Special school election.

—How would one large respectable school building look on a full block of land in a well chosen part of the town?

—A little matinee on Commercial Row this afternoon. Both were drunk or under the influence of the bowl. They are two of the boys, they are.

—The morning express train will hereafter arrive in Reno ten minutes later than heretofore; or, at 7:10 A. M. on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday mornings.

—The Cupola furnace, which has been undergoing repairs and has been remodeled by increasing its length and changing its form, will be in operation perhaps this evening.

—Deputy Assessor McKenney has been assessing in Wadsworth and other outlying parts for a week. Pete Evans is also in the field. Assessor Fish's office is at D. A. Bender & Co's bank.

—Mr. A. Jose has been annoyed by a number of persons who purchase bottled drinks of him and do not return or deliver to him when he calls for the empty bottles. See his notice in another part of this paper.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to William T. Frank, Annie Frank, S. M. Jamison and J. C. Hagerman, Greeting: You are hereby summoned to appear in an action commenced against you as Defendants by J. E. Jones and Jas. H. Kinkade, co-partners doing business under the firm name of J. E. Jones & Co., as Plaintiffs, in the First at Court of the Second Judicial District, in and for the County of Washoe, State of Nevada, and answer the complaint therein with in ten days after the service on you of this summons, (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to recover judgment and decree of this Court that a certain conveyance of W. T. Frank to Annie Frank, bearing date Dec. 19th, 1876, is in trust to pay these Plaintiffs their lawful claim of $400 and interest thereon due on a certain promissory note bearing date Aug. 9th, 1876, that a certain conveyance to J. Hagerman by said Annie Frank was executed and that said S. M. Jamison be restrained from in any manner negotiating or transferring said note, and said J. C. Hagerman be restrained from paying the full amount of said note, but retain an amount sufficient to pay the aforesaid sum of money, and for such other and further relief as the Court can lawfully grant, all of which will more fully appear in the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County.

And it is further notified, that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the Plaintiffs will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

In Testimony Whereof, I, P. B. COMSTOCK, Clerk of said Court, have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court, this 7th day of March, A. D. 1878.

P. B. COMSTOCK, Clerk.
W. M. CAIN, Attorney for Plaintiffs. (3-9)

SO EXTENSIVELY WORKED IN PARIS, was first discovered in 1873, by the celebrated French chemist, M. D. De Lafage, who manufactured it in jewelry, and for five years sold it to the leading jewelers of Paris for Solid Gold. In 1878, when his secret became known, ten of the manufacturing jewelers established a stock company, with a capital of $10,000,000 for the purpose of manufacturing Romaine Gold Jewelry, and Watches. With this immense capital and the aid of improved machinery, they are enabled to produce all the latest patterns of jewelry at less than one-tenth the cost of solid gold, and of a quality and color which makes it impossible even for experts to detect it from the genuine.

We have secured the exclusive monopoly of the United States and Canada, for the sale of all goods manufactured from this metal, and in order to introduce them in the most speedy manner, have put up assorted sample lots as given below, which we will sell at one-tenth the retail value until January 1st, 1878. DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S
Private Medical Institute.
209, KERNAN STREET, SAN FRANCISCO.
Established in 1854.
For the Permanent Cure of all Special and Chronic Diseases, as also all Female Complaints and Diseases of the Nervous System.

THE IMMENSE DESTRUCTION OF human life annually from secret and chronic diseases, caused this old and reliable institution to be established in Philadelphia, Penn., in 1850, and afterwards in San Francisco, Cal., in 1854, as a private dispensary, in order to afford the afflicted the best medical and surgical treatment for their ailments and all other affections and complaints. Consultation at the Institute, or by letter, FREE.

To the Afflicted:

Dr. L. J. Czapkay would most respectfully inform the public of the Pacific coast that, at the earnest solicitation of his numerous friends, and hundreds of those unfortunately afflicted with disease, he has reopened his MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE and resumed the practice of his profession. The Doctor would remind all those who are in need of medical aid, that since relinquishing his very extensive and successful practice in San Francisco, he has visited the principal cities in Europe, inspecting diligently the experience of the most learned in the profession, the benefit from which he offers to all in need of his services. Rheumatic affections, chronic catarrhs, diseases of the stomach and kidneys, liver complaints, etc., successfully treated. Those who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, physical and mental debility, are assured of a permanent cure. Charges moderate. All communications strictly confidential. Medicine sent by express. Address,

L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D.
